Story

Thanks for taking the time to visit my JustGiving page, where I'm planning to raise over £1,000 in support of Prostate Cancer UK, by cycling 874 miles over the course of two weeks.

I lost a family friend to prostate cancer a few years ago and now it's time I did something about it. I hope to not only raise money to help fund lifesaving research, but raise awareness to encourage more men to get tested.

11,000 men die every year of prostate cancer, yet far too many blokes are completely unaware of their risk, despite the fact that 1 in 8 men will get prostate cancer.

I've completed a few longish cycles before, but never anything as gruelling as this! It's going to be a great challenge and I can't thank everyone enough for their well wishes and support.

Your donation will help me stay focused and motivated, as well as helping men across the UK, by supporting Prostate Cancer UK and their amazing service.

Thanks!

Charlie
